Nicsa is a not-for-profit trade association striving to connect all facets of the global asset management industry through formal education programs, networking opportunities, and initiatives such as the Diversity Project North America.

The Diversity Project North America aims to achieve DEI across all dimensions of the industry through collaborative leadership.

The Diversity Project North America's Education Engagement & Outreach Committee seeks to attract early-career, diverse talent to the global asset management industry. We aim to partner with organizations that work directly with young adults that we think would find great opportunity, and a bright future, in this space.

HOW CAN WE PARTNER TOGETHER?

Our committee can partner with your organization to teach students firsthand about working in Finance—and not just a job in investing! Our committee can provide insight on finding a career in this space while helping achieve more diversity, equity and inclusion for all.
